CSCMP Releases Online Global Resource Directory

Lombard, Illinois USA (March 10, 2010)—The Council of Supply Chain Management Professionals (CSCMP) has released its new online Resource Directory which includes a comprehensive section on global supply chain management consultants and a listing of their services. The directory is available on CSCMP's web site at <http://cscmp.org/resources/resource-directory.asp>.

Available to CSCMP members and nonmembers, the Resource Directory allows individuals to search for consultants at no cost to them based on their areas of expertise (i.e., customer service, equipment handling, forecasting), industry expertise (i.e., 3PL, finance, health-care), consulting areas of skill (i.e., engineering, labor management, marketing), as well as global locations of expertise. Searches can be customized to fit industry-specific needs. Consulting firms may list their organizations in the directory for a $250.00 US annual fee.

"This new directory is not only an outstanding value add for companies looking to market their services, it also assists those that are seeking consulting experts," said Janine Stuck, CSCMP's director of member services and information services. "One of CSCMP's goals is to provide supply chain management professionals with the resources they need to help them run their businesses more efficiently. The online Resource Directory makes it easy for them to research and hire the perfect supply chain consultants for their projects."

Founded in 1963, the Council of Supply Chain Management Professionals is the leading worldwide professional association dedicated to education, research, and the advancement of the supply chain management profession. With over 9,000 members globally, representing business, government, and academia from 63 countries, CSCMP members are the leading practitioners and authorities in the fields of logistics and supply chain management.
